LAST WEEK FOR LARGAIN MONT

LIFE'S SPARK OUT FOR IRA DeHAVEN.

Bright's Disease Causes His Death After Lingerin Illness Of Many Weeks.

LONG A PENITENTIARY GUARD.

Ira DeHaven died last Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary DeHaven, in this city. He had been in poor health since the first of May. About June 8 his condition became critical and there was little hope entertained of his recovery. Death was due to Bright's disease. Mr. DeHaven's home was at Louisville, but he came to this city to live.

Mr. DeHaven was born in this city in 1868. In the early part of his life he engaged extensively in the tan-bark and timber business with his father. He then Judge John R. DeHaven. He was employed by a number of mercantile firms in this city. In 1894 he secured a position as guard at the State penitentiary at Frankfort. He afterwards was given a like position at the Eddyville penitentiary, which he held at the time of his death. He always took an active interest in politics and had many friends among the political leaders of the County and State.

In February, 1902, the deceased was married to Miss Talmage D. Stone, of Frankfort. To this union was born one son. Singularly, the child was born on Wednesday, Mr. DeHaven was born on Wednesday and died on Wednesday. Mrs. DeHaven will remain in the city several weeks and then return to her old home at Frankfort.

Besides his wife, mother and child, Mr. DeHaven is survived by four brothers, Fred, of Louisville, Carl, of Terre Haute, Ind., Orville and Wicker, of this city, and one sister, Miss Mamie DeHaven.

The funeral was held from the family residence Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. P. L. King and S. O. Christian officiating, and the interment was in the city cemetery.

She lived an exemplary Christian life and leave many friends and relatives with a husband and three girls to mourn her loss. The little ones will never realize the loss of a mother. Best be the one that binds The kindred hearts so dear, And with the cord we thus entwined, We loose our friends so near.

IS NOW BETTER.

Miss Ethel Johnson and brother, Murray, of East Third street, have returned to their home after a week's stay in Breckenridge county, where they were called to the bedside of their cousin, Miss Myrtle Williamson, who was dangerously ill, but is better.—Sunday's Owensboro Inquirer.

Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Skillman entertained informally the younger set Friday evening in honor of their guests, Misses Ruth and Lillian Graham and Mary and Eliza Barrett, of Louisville.

ANDREW BURK IS FREE MAN AGAIN.

Acquitted Of Complicity in Murder of J. P. McCarver Near Victoria in 1900.

PINCHCOE FIGHTERS PINCHED.

In the circuit court at Hawesville Friday Andrew Burk was acquitted on the charge of killing or assisting to kill J. P. McCarver, an old man, no Christmas eve, 1900, near Victoria. At previous terms of this court Dan and Mike Burk, uncles of Andrew, were sentenced to the penitentiary on the same charge. About one year after Christmas Dan was sentenced to five years' imprisonment, but was pardoned by Gov. Beckham after he had served about six months.

The term of Mike Burk, who, later, was given a sentence of two years, is now nearly finished. Andrew Burk had fought the charge against him for nearly four years. The verdict in his case was not unexpected. The killing of McCarver is familiar to many of our readers, as it attracted much attention at the time both in Breckenridge and Hancock counties, as have the trials of the three Burks.

The night the crime was committed the Burks boys were very much under the influence of liquor and were returning from this city to their home at Victoria. McCarver kept a store near Victoria and when they reached this place they made some disturbance. McCarver told them to keep quiet and the shooting then began, it is said. A witness of the affray, who fled for safety, and he saw Andrew Burk standing over McCarver with a knife raised in his hand. The body bore out this part of the story, as there was a knife wound in it sufficient to cause death. Andrew Burk, testifying for himself, said that he had no knife, having loaned his weapon to Mike on the road to the place.

Jake Richards was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by the Hancock circuit court last Wednesday for having shot Miles Puga. Scott Smith, Otis Smith and Richards also were each fined $25 and sentenced to serve twenty days in jail for breaking up a singing school several months ago at Pinchcoe, the dark and remote section of Hancock county.

CLEARED $31.80 ON MOON LIGHT PICNIC.

That giving moon light picnics is a paying business, when properly managed and advertised, is evidenced by Loma Sahlie's success in this particular line of trade, Friday night last. Mr. Sahlie attributes his success to the advertising which he placed in the News for several weeks and other methods employed by men who have the tact of making such ventures successful. With a lengthy grin on his face Mr. Sahlie stated in the News office Saturday that he cleared $31.80 and would have had $50 in profits had it not been for threatening rain. In the opinion of Mr. Sahlie, something like two hundred people were with him.

POSTOFFICE REPORT.

Postmaster J. B. Rowland has made his report of the business done by the local office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904. It shows a very appreciable increase in receipts over those of the preceding year.

The total receipts of the office from July 1, 1903, to June 30, 1904, were $1,499.44. This was divided as follows: Postage stamps, stamped envelopes, wrappers and postal cards, $2,332.94; box rent $175.00, postage on second-class matter, $33. This is an increase of approximately fifteen percent over the receipts of the preceding year, which were $2,130. The number of money orders issued during the year were 2,551, and these amounted to $10,064.50. The amount paid out on orders drawn on the local office was $4,600.36. OPENING SESSION VERY PROMISING.

This Year's Teachers' Institute Will Probably be Best Ever Held in County.

ABOUT 100 TEACHERS PRESENT.

Hardinsburg, Ky., July 26.—(Special.)—The Breckenridge County Teachers' Institute met in session at the courthouse Monday morning, with Supt. Joel H. Pile, presiding. The organization was perfected by the election of Miss Jewell Cary, of Greensburg, as secretary. The instructor is Prof. Charles Evans, of Stratton, after an absence of some days. I find yours of July 13, inviting me to be present on August 30, at the laying of the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple of Breckenridge lodge. I accept the invitation, and it will give me pleasure to be present. I recall with gratification my former visit to Hardinsburg nearly twenty-five years ago. Very truly yours, Wm. C. P. Breckenridge, Lexington, Ky., July 26, 1904.

WILL OPERATE SOON.

Manager F. D. Whitteck, of the local branch of the J. T. Pile company of Greenwood, Ind., stated to a representative of the News Thursday that the plant will begin canning tomatoes about the middle of August. He said that the tomatoes being raised here for the canners are in very good condition and are expected to ripen in large quantities in about three weeks.

Mr. Whitteck arrived in the city Thursday with D. S. Duncan, who has had a position with the company at Greenwood, and will have charge of the local canning during Mr. Whitteck's absence. Mr. Whitteck came down from Greenwood to make some arrangements for the operation of the canners and to spend several days in the city.

Six tomato-canning machines were shipped here last week to be installed at once in the canners. Even with the use of these machines a large number of women will have to be employed, as it requires six or eight women to operate each machine.

BUTTON FACTORY.

The latest talked of industry for Cloverport is a button factory. Some of our citizens are of the opinion that an institution of this character would pay here. The mussel shells, which are being gathered out of the river here every summer and through the fall season, amount to many tons, and there is no reason why these should not be utilized here. Making buttons can be made as profitable here as anywhere else, and the thing we need is the factory to do the work. If a profit is made out of the business by shipping the shells to Iowa and other states, could it not be made here? They have a button factory at Leavenworth, Ind., operated by home capital. A public meeting will be called to consider this matter in a short time.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS.

An empty box fell from a scaffold Friday afternoon and struck Forrest Pace in the head, inflicting a painful but not serious wound. He was knocked down by the blow and was unconscious for some time. The box weighed fifteen or twenty pounds and fell about fifteen feet. His fellow workmen believe he would have been seriously hurt if a corner of the box had struck his head. The accident occurred at the L. B. St. Louis shops.

GREATLY IMPROVED.

John Lillard was operated on at Louisville Saturday morning for gallstone, five stones being removed. The stood the operation well and is now greatly improved. However she will not be able to return to this city for several weeks. She was accompanied to Louisville Saturday morning by Mr. Lillard.

ROOFING TILE CO. IS REORGANIZED.

Stockholders Who Sided With Supt. LaMont are Bought Out by Other Parties.

RESUME OPERATIONS AT ONCE.

The Murray Roofing Tile company, which owns a large plant just west of this city, has been reorganized. The name of the company remains unchanged but new parties have bought the interests of several of the old stockholders and the officers are new with only one or two exceptions. As re-organized, K. S. Moore, of Parkersburg, W. Va., is president;—Boone, of Parkersburg, treasurer; C. A. Cray, of Huntington, W. Va., vice-president; C. K. Murray, Huntington, secretary; and A. H. Murray, of this city, manager. Lewis Manbach, of Parkersburg, was formerly the president of the company. J. Broth, of Huntington, treasurer; C. A. Cray, secretary; A. H. Murray, manager; and Lewis LaMont, of St. Louis, superintendent.

The old Murray Roofing Tile company was organized about a year ago. The company bought the old Cloverport Brick & Manufacturing company's plant and converted it into a roofing tile plant. It was in operation several weeks, but opposition between the manager and the superintendent arose and operations were suspended. An equity suit between Moore, A. H. Murray and Lewis LaMont, the old manager and superintendent respectively, is now pending in the Breckenridge circuit court. All the stockholders who sided with LaMont have sold their interests and the plant will be put in operation this week by the new owners.

BETTER AND BIGGER.

The Masons of this city are making preparations for their third annual barbeque which they intend shall be bigger and better than ever. The barbeque this year will be given on Thursday, August 11. The first and second barbeques drew thousands of people to this city from all sections of this and adjoining counties and proved the biggest attraction in the county each year. Every facility for handling a still greater crowd will be provided this year.

The attractions at the barbeque will include free concerts by the Commercial Club band of Castleton, the school's field sports, a horse show, races, etc., which will keep the crowds interested all day.

SKIDS FALL ON LEG.

D. W. Murray, bookkeeper for the local branch of the Galilee Limited tobacco company, was painfully hurt Friday afternoon in front of the company's factory. He was standing near a wagon, which was being loaded with hogheads, when the heavy skids slipped from the wagon and struck him on the back of the left leg just above the heel. The member is badly bruised and it is thought by his physician that a small bone was broken. If the skids had struck his leg farther from the foot it would have been broken, in the opinion of a spectator. Mr. Murray was taken to Hardinsburg Saturday morning by his father, Gen. D. R. Murray.

WED IN LOUISVILLE.

EKron, Ky., July 26.—(Special.)—Mr. Boyd Haynes and Miss Sallie Allen, of Overland, were married in Louisville last Sunday.

descriptions crowded against one another, for the supply of hay needed during the fair for the horses and cattle was very great. The shouts of Circassians, Georgians and Turks and Persians were deafening.

Alma sat in her drowsy and looked about at the busy scene. These hay-balls were mostly from the towns along the upper Kur and the Volga. They were of all kinds, sizes and degrees of safety. Those from the Volga were the largest, for they needed stability to travel on the Caspian. Near one of these, with an Astrakhan owner and crew, she halted.

No soldiers of the czar hate the Muscovite rule more than the Astrakhan. It was only after a prolonged war that Astrakhan was subdued, and her fealty has never been more than Alma turned the pages of the book. Many of the brilliant uniforms she saw pictured were familiar to her. The uniform prescribed for the inspector general of prisons was a gorgeous affair, all gold lace, shiny boots, a cap and a medal that hung from the golden sash. She closed the book and sank back in the chair with her eyes closed. Instead of returning the book Alma rose from her chair and placed it in a drawer.

"I like to look at them, Marie," she said. "I will keep the book awhile."

The approach of the governor's ball in honor of the new inspector general of prisons roused great interest. A governor's ball was always a grand affair, but this one, coming at the close of the fair, with so many notables from all parts of the end in title, was certain to surpass in splendor any of its predecessors. The bazaars brought out their best goods and displayed them to the best advantage. Women of all nations began feverish shopping and preparing. Officers of the cuirassiers, Cossack grandees, Chinese and Turkish nobles, vied with one another in their efforts to do credit to this great occasion. Alma seemed lulled with the same spirit of rivalry. One day she and Marie were going out Jurinoff stopped Marie.

"Marie," he said, "what has brought the great change over your mistress? Herebefore she has been morose and sad; now she is smiling and cheerful. What has caused it? She acts like one who told him that her lover had come to see her."

Marie started. Did he know that Alma was aware of the presence of Irma in the prison?

"It is not that, I think, Colonel Jurinoff, but that perhaps one is coming."

"Do you mean—you cannot mean the prince?"

"It may be, though Miss Alma says little to me. Is he not a great officer?"

"He has a high and noble position. He is inspector general of prisons."

"Ah! That enlightens me, your excellency. I know what she wanted it for now."

"The book—the picture of uniforms. I saw her studying the uniform of the inspector general of prisons. She seemed pleased after that."

Jurinoff turned away.

"What was there in the general's letter to produce this change?" he asked himself. "It is remarkable. I can now write to him that he is in a fair way to have his dearest wish gratified. I ought to be promoted myself if that comes off."

"What did my uncle ask you, Marie?" inquired Alma as the carriage was being driven off.

"He had noticed that you were gay and smiling of late. He asked me the cause. I said I believed it was because the prince was coming. I told him you had studied the uniforms of the inspector general of prisons and had seemed pleased."

"I must be cautious."

Arriving at one of the largest bazaars, Alma left Marie in the carriage and proceeded to do her shopping alone. She was attired becomingly, her gown setting off her form to advantage. Among the things she purchased was a long cloak, reaching almost to the ground, having a hood for covering the head in winter.

"Permit me, lady, to carry your purchases to your carriage," said the merchant.

"You may, but not yet. I shall need some more things. I am going to a cafe for lunch and shall wear my new hood and cloak. These Persians and Turks stare at me. When I return, I shall make more purchases."

"I will await your return with impatience, lady, and your goods will remain in my charge."

Not even Marie noticed the cloaked figure that came from the bazaar. A drowsy was standing near, and Alma stepped into it.

"Take me to the hay wharf," she said.

The Ivoshnik stared, but the money that was put into his hand was many times the regular charge, and he did not hesitate.

The hay wharf on the Kur were in themselves part of the show. Bosta or walked in the obscurity of the streets to mingle on equal terms in the brilliant halloos with princes and nobles. The gay world of the Caucasus was made gayer by the addition of the swarms from the orient. Bands headed their military music. (The dancing from Paris swept the ballroom floor as the stately dames who were then walked with Persians and Turks of high degree. Laughter, conversation, introductions and presentations made a perfectly harmonious bedlam.

But there was one at the ball who listened to the words of welcome he received, while his eyes noted the appearance of one he sought.

"Will she never come?" he asked himself. "Or does she hate me so that she will leave her uncle's wrath rather than meet me?"

"Colonel Jurinoff met Miss Alma," he heard some one say. He turned to look. He stood spellbound. He had not imagined, although he knew her well, that such a being could exist as entered the door at that moment. By the side of the grim-faced colonel walked a vision from some other land. It seemed never had anything like it been seen at a governor's ball in Tiflis. Alma's costume was a combination of the East and the West. The dress was of lace and the coolest silk. Pearl adorned her snowy neck. Her little feet were clad in dainty shoes of white doe-skin. Her white arms were round and full, her shoulders perfect. The white fan she carried seemed to waft a mystic thrill upon all she passed. Her voice was sweet in its music. She was the gayest of them all.

"Can it be that that lovely creature has at last consented to be my wife?" said the prince to himself.

"Prince Delnikoff, you know my niece, Alma Jurinoff?"

The prince bowed. Miss Alma extended her hand graciously.

"I know the prince very well," she said, "but since I have been enjoying my visit at Tiflis he has been quite a stranger."

"I did not—I did not know—"

"I congratulate you, prince, upon your appointment. My father wrote about it."

"What woman is this?" asked the colonel as he moved away, leaving her. "She is a riddle. I cannot solve her. But she loves him. I can see love in her very eyes."

She placed her hand on the prince's arm as they joined the throng. Turkish nobles saw her and blinked their eyes as they thought of their own faded beauties in their harems. Persian princes sought conversation. Chinese mandarins almost forgot their names when she spoke to them. She did not come to conquer, and the conqueror was the queen of the ball, and Delnikoff was the civil of princes.

"Miss Alma will lead the grand march with the guest of honor," said the governor.

The hand struck up "The Czar" and the prince and general felt in behind her. Delnikoff's heart beat with pride as he felt the warm and living hand of the girl upon his arm. The warm pressure that came from her fan intoxicated him. He saw the prince, the gay one from St. Petersburg, was like a boy at his first party. In the dance that followed, as he felt his arm around her waist, a thrill of pleasure drove the blood quicker through his brain. After the dance he led her to the conservatory.

"You have changed," he said as his eyes devoured her. "As you grow more beautiful you grow more gracious. A year ago you spurned me almost."

"Almost," she answered, with a coquettish laugh that sent the blood to her head. "Are you so weak that most drives you from a woman's side?"

"But your father," he stammered.

"He said you were in love with an American. He sent you here, so he told me, to keep you from that folly."

Alma put her fan before her face and laughed—a singularly rollicking laugh.

"Sent me away to keep me from a man I have seen but a few times, a man engaged in selling American wind-mills and pumpkins? Oh, prince, do you think that Tiflis, with all its strength, could keep me from the man I loved if I knew where he was to be found?"

He bent over her. His hot breath on her cheek brought a blush to it. She looked up into his face with a fascinating smile.

"Is it possible, tell me—you know how I have loved you—is it possible that you—have not thought of me?"

A rosy glow came into her eyes, and she covered them quickly with her fan. He tore away the fan.

"Tell me," he said.

"Hush! Some one is coming. Let us return to the ballroom. Another time we can talk."

He conducted her back to the ballroom. With reluctance he relinquished her to the governor.

"What a wonderful success!" she said as they swept past the prince, who was devouring her again with his eyes.

"I thank you," said the governor. "It was not the man I loved the success it is."

"No, but the genius of the governor of Tiflis," she answered, with a smile that stirred even his old blood.

"What has not gone into this?" asked Colonel Jurinoff of himself as he watched her. "I am beginning to think my brother was a fool in ordering me to keep her confined. Instead I should have given her berth and parties for her. My course is plain now that the prince has won. All I need do is to take the credit and win promotion."

Alma danced with her uncle. During the waltz he felt a victim to her charms.

"Am I a dot? Has she turned my head too?" he asked himself.

He took her back to the prince, who was jealous even of the uncle.

HOW TO WIN A HUSBAND.

Woman's sphere in this 20th century is not limited any more than is man's. She can occupy almost any business position or profession, and yet the popular view of womanhood is that she best fits the position of wife and mother and head of the household. Every girl should know her own heart and also know that her womanly system is equal to the strain of marriage. If a girl is nervous and irritable then chances are one in five that she is suffering from a womanhood. Cupid has no place in a girl's heart if she is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down, worn out for no reason that she can think of. The weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are only symptoms. Go to the source of the trouble and correct the irregularity. Stop the drains on the womanly system and the other symptoms will disappear. This can be done easily and intelligently. So rare is it in the World's Dispensary Medical Association, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of nervousness, female weakness, prostration, falling of the womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"Your Favorite Prescription" cured me of nervousness, from which I suffered for many years, writes Mrs. Delphine H. Clark, 1111 North Main Street, Chicago, Ill. "I was a nervous, irritable, and nervous woman, and I was in dreadful pain most of the time, but now I am well and happy."

"Your Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

Opinion About School Funds.

On a request from Superintendent of Public Instruction Fugate, Attorney General Hays has rendered an official opinion concerning subsections 5 and 6 of Section 4,870, Kentucky Statutes, in which he holds that the common school system is entitled to 33-1/3 of the whole State tax, and that the common school fund is entitled to have its proportion of the funds derived from the insurance department set aside to that department.

He holds that for the year ending June, 1904, there should have been paid to the credit of the school fund $30,000, this being its proportionate part of the $120,000 turned into the Treasury from this source. He estimates that between $10,000 and $15,000 will be due this fund from money turned into the Treasury June, 1905.

He further holds that the school fund is entitled to the proportionate part of the funds turned into the Treasury since the law has been in force since 1898, which will amount to about $200,000.

Heretofore the funds from the insurance department have been covered into the Treasury and none of them devoted to the school fund.

A RIGHTFUL PARDON.

Nanny May, a young Kentucky woman was recently sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for killing her husband's paramour. The crime was committed when she was suffering from a form of mania incident to pregnancy. A pardon was at once asked for her, every juror, every officer of the court and all of the best citizens of her county joining in the request. In granting the pardon acting Governor Thorne said:

"There is a certain sentiment in Kentucky called noninterference law, which has prevailed in many cases under my observation as a practicing lawyer, when men have been acquitted by judges and juries in similar cases to this, which were met with applause. But in this case, when a poor, frail little woman committed this crime, a jury gave her ten years, and sends her and her babies to the penitentiary. In such a case the law should have acquitted her instead of convicting her and throwing the responsibility upon the Executive. As it is, I might, under certain conditions allow this woman to go to the prison to suffer for the grave crime she has committed. But to send these tables to the penitentiary or separate them from their mother and incarcerate her for ten years, I haven't the heart to do. She is pardoned with the intention, 'to do sin no more.'"

"Equality before the law" is what the Kentucky Equal Rights Association is trying to obtain for women. The application to this poor woman's case of that "arbitrary law" which has shielded so many men is an act that outlives Governor Thorne to the respect and gratitude of every lover of fair play—Lida Calvert Obenchain, Sm't. The same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies. Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport, and R. A. Arthur Kenner of Cabot, in the remote part of Hancock county, is twenty-two years old and only four feet high.

He surprised the court this morning in offering to go to jail in place of his friend, Willie Warner, who was fined for disturbing a public meeting this winter. Kenner was in earnest and was disappointed when told that the plan was impossible. His reason was that his friend had a family—Hawesville Philadelpher.

Found in the Soil.

The following brief facts are boiled down from an article by Prof. G. Hopkins, of the Illinois College of Agriculture, on "Fertility of the Soil."

Different types of soil produce different crop yields under the same conditions.

Soils side by side, but cultivated differently for a term of years, produce very different yields.

The same soil differs at different times according to its cultivation and another treatment and lack of treatment.

One soil will produce twenty bushels of corn; another forty bushels; another eighty bushels.

One soil will worth $20 an acre; another $100 per acre; another $300 per acre, largely because of their difference in fertility or productive capacity.

Soil can be "run down."

Soil can be improved.

The fertility of the soil can be maintained. It is waste money to know soils and be able to improve them.

The study of soils is vitally connected with profit and prosperity in farming, the greatest industry in Illinois.

Neither live stock, nor dower, or both together will maintain the fertility of the soil.

The only way to "preserve good physical conditions and then put back upon the land all of the fertility which is taken off."

While there are ten essentials of plant food, seven of them are usually supplied in abundance, but nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium are rather limited in most soils. So the study of fertility is practically reduced to the study of these three.

Decide What You Will Do.

An engineer who starts to build a bridge and then keeps on finding better places to put up his piers, and wondering whether he has selected the best location or not, will never get the bridge across the river. He must decide, get on ahead and build the bridge no matter what obstacle he may strike. So it is with the builder of character. He must decide finally what he will do, and then make for his goal, refusing to look back or be moved from his course. Ten of thousands of good people with good health, good education and good ability, are standing on the end of a bridge, at life's crossing. They hope they are on the right way. They think they are doing the right thing, and yet they do not dare to burn the bridge they have just crossed. They wait a chance for retreat in case they have made a mistake. They cannot bear the thought of cutting off all possibility of turning back. They lack the power to decide conclusively what course they will take—O. S. Marden in the August "Success."

FINE FLUOR SPAR.

Mr. William Smart, of Cloverport, was in the city yesterday with a fine specimen of fluor spar which he left with experts for examination and testing. It is a variety found in Breckenridge county and Mr. Smart is undoubtedly about its possible worth. It is white flintlike. It is in measure quantities, rather than in formations that have octahedral cleavage. It is thought to have very superior qualities for flint purposes.—Friday's Owensboro Messenger.

MARIAN MARNE'S LATEST COSTUMES FOR MILADY.

By the time this letter is before you I will have sailed for Europe in search of information regarding French Fashion, latest and best as represented in Paris and London and will keep sharp lookout for any new ideas for sea garb or tourist costumes for Milady traveler.

It is an acknowledged fact that the American woman is the best dressed woman in the world, and especially happy is she in her selection of her gown for ocean travel, but unfortunately until recently, to the many women who have felt the

Another outing costume, which is illustrated for you, is of natural colored light weight silk of medium weight, shirred at the top around the hips and back, with which is worn a shirred and bonneted coat, ending in a pointed silk girdle. The gown is handsomely trimmed in bands of Persian embroidery, a row of which adorns the bottom of the skirt.

Particularly necessary with the girdle is a well cut corset. Graceful and stylish a woman is sure to appear in a properly modelled corset, and as good models of the best makers, such as the G-B-A is a Splinter, come in prices to suit every purse, there is no excuse for a woman presenting a dowdy figure, and thus soiling the appearance of her gown.

Neatness and trimness which gives a woman the appearance of being "well-groomed" is within the means of all, and happily our clever American women give us little to complain of on that score.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Louisville, Ky., July 21.—The Republican state committee met today and elected Thomas Walker, of Lexington, secretary of the state central and campaign committees and his salary was fixed at $3,000. P. P. Ernst was elected chairman of the campaign committee. The other members are C. Z. Mengel, E. W. Long, Sam J. Roberts, John C. Wood. The committee decided the two contests in the Eleventh district in favor of Dr. Hunter. Mr. Ernst is also chairman of the state central committee. J. M. Yerkes delivered an address in which he predicted Republican success in Kentucky this fall.

Sam Jones And Humanity.

Yes, Sam Jones was a successful man.

Not in matters of finance. He had some money—enough to feed him, clothe, keep his business going and a share for good works—but he was not rich in the latter-day meaning of the word.

Nor was he powerful, as we speak of money kings, Governors, Senators and Presidents being powerful. He was Mayor of a thriving city; that is all that can be said for official power.

He was successful because of the great heart that throbbed in his breast. He had a tender feeling for the plain people, and he tried to live as he preached.

Why, that man believed that everybody should have a chance. He believed that in the homes of the most lowly there should be some sunshine and laughter and happiness, and that those things could best be secured by mixing into the affairs of every-day life, whether they had to do with the home or workshop, those words:

"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to the same."

Some of the big men of business called him a crank. They said he would destroy trade; that the lines between those who work and those who employ must be sharply drawn; that he was a destroyer of discipline. But he had the courage to take his ideas into his own factory, and demonstrate that they would work out; that it was possible to be kind and sympathetic in business, and still show a profit at the end of the year.

When Sam Jones walked the streets the men who were at work in the sewer trench smiled at him. They liked his hearty "Good morning, boys!" they enjoyed the clasp of his strong hand. Somehow, they realized that his heart was in it.

And the children by the thousand knew him for a friend. They felt that he was "their Mr. Jones." They carried flowers to him. You can't fool children. They can tell human gold, surely. Perhaps Toledo was no better governed than the average city. But the common people, the majority, felt that they had a voice in the government and a Mayor who understood them. So they loved him.

Truly, a good man has gone to his reward. The monument that he built in human hearts should last for the ages.

—Editorial in The Cincinnati Post.

Perplexity of the Arid Vote.

"We have passed," declared the Republicans in Chicago, "laws which will bring the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation."

"We congratulate," declared the Democrats at St. Louis, "our Western fellow citizens upon the passage of the Newlands reclamation act for the irrigation and reclamation of arid lands of the West. We call attention to this great Democratic measure, broad and comprehensive as it is, working automatically throughout all time without further action of Congress until the reclamation of all the reclaimable land in the arid West is established as an evidence of the policy of development contemplated by the Democratic party should it be placed in power."

It will be seen from this that both parties, each acting on its own initiative and without apparent reference to the other, have adopted such comprehensive measures for the irrigation of arid lands that, as the Democrats say, it will work automatically "through all time."

Here on one point at least, are the two parties in exact accord as to the necessity for and the attainment of government aided irrigation; but on the question as to which party is entitled to the credit for this comprehensive legislation, automatically beneficent and solving the problem of perpetual motion, they are as far apart as the poles.

Should the grateful arid vote go to ROOSEVELT or PARKER?—New York Sun.

GIRL ACTS LIKE SNAKE.

Crized by the bite of a venomous snake, Nellie Coates, a young girl living near the River coal mines, attempted to end her life by jumping into a pond Sunday afternoon, says the Paducah Herald. The timely intervention of a man who happened to be near the place saved her from death.

The girl was bitten by the snake late Friday afternoon. Since that time she has suffered convulsion after convulsion, and it is not improbable that the poison sent coursing through her veins will yet cause her death.

During Friday night the girl suffered convulsion after convulsion. When suffering from the convulsions the girl seemed to think that she was a snake, and bit and snapped at those who gathered around her bed. She would also growl her tongue and snap it back into her mouth as a reptile does when made angry.

WHAT ARE WE TO DO?

What are we to do? Disease germs are in the water, wine, whiskey, beer, cider, milk and whatever we drink from thirst or pleasure. They are in bread, meats, fruits, vegetables, sugar, honey, molasses and whatever we eat. To be happy and healthy, so say scientists, "Our fathers and mothers know nothing of these germ destroyers of health, happiness and life, so they ate, drank and made merry to a good, peaceful old age. But we know and are in the air we breathe. In the sunlight that warms our blood and in the darkness that chills our body. Some people know too much, or make believe they do; some people know too little, or think they do. Such is man, possibly woman also, a mass of pretensions, high or low.

Bishop Joseph N. Kays, Southern M. E. Church, writes: "We get Dr. Moffett's 'TEETHINA' (Teething Powders) to our little grandchild with the happiest results. The effects were almost magical, and certainly more satisfactory than from anything we ever used." "TEETHINA" (Teething Powder) Contracts and Overcomes the Effects of the Summer's Heat.

PECULIAR CASE.

Twenty years ago, while at work in his field, Mr. Isaac Catlett, of the Tanager neighborhood, was bitten by a large rattlesnake and ever since then he has had annual periods of intense suffering from wounds inflicted by the diabolical but poisonous animal. The accident happened at noon on the 27th day of June, and every year since then at the every hour on the same day of the month and year Mr. Catlett has a return of the poisonous effects and goes through the same intense suffering, lasting several days. The only thing that has any effect to quiet the pain is whiskey and every year, just before the time for the return of the affliction, Mr. Catlett, anticipating the result, is forced to resort to take whiskey to counteract the effects of the poison. —LaRue County Herald.

This year it will be bigger and better than ever.

Come and bring your friends with you. In the meantime if you are needing anything to complete your outfit, let us supply you.

DON'T BUTT IN.

When you see a fellow-man
yet playing his own hand,
and the very best he can.
Don't butt in.
Are troubles of their own,
thru more than you have any.
Don't butt in.
Don't let them alone—
opps! Don't butt in.
Don't do them any good,
if it do if you could,
don't do it if you would.
Don't butt in.
Do fall out every day
would make up right away,
away from them you would stay.
Don't butt in.

If your friends go on a lark,
Spend the day at Lakeside Park
And stay out 'till after dark.
Don't butt in.
When your friends are fishing go
Any say the fish weighed so and so,
It won't be the truth, you know.
Don't butt in.
If the conversation didn't suit you
Wait until the speaker's through.
You may learn something new,
Don't butt in.
On your journey here below.
Through this world of joy and woe,
You'll be tempted where'er you go,
But don't butt in.

PHYSICAL COMPARISON.

To the Editor of the Sun—Sir: The candidates for the Presidency are making it more difficult each day for the voters to choose between them.
On Saturday morning at Oyster Bay
President and Mrs. Roosevelt went horseback riding. In the afternoon, at Knappa, Judge and Mrs. Parker did likewise.

How can there be issues in such campaigns? If the President should rope a steer at Oyster Bay, what would happen at Knappa?

GREAT EGG DEMAND.

"The man who could get a corner
on the egg market just in little old Manhattan Island alone," said a produce dealer, "could shut up shop at the end of the year and have a good time the rest of his life. It takes more than 30,000,000 dozens of eggs a year to keep the island in omelets, eggnogs and other things that can't be made without eggs. They cost on an average 35 cents a dozen for 'em.
That figures up to the next sum of $1,050,000, all in hard cash. Those eggs come from all over the country.
If New York State, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts should turn over to the Manhattan Island market every egg their hens lay, they would no more than supply the demand, so we have to go out West, down South, and even to Canada to get enough."—New York Sun.

Southern Corn Crop.

In six of our Southern States—
Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi—there is a total area of approximately 15,000,000 acres planted in corn. The yield from this area for 1903 was 225,000,000 bushels.
Iowa, with - 8,200,000 acres in corn, produced 229,000,000 bushels, and Illinois, with about the same acres as Iowa, produced 204,000,000 bushels and Kansas together, with about the same acreage as the six States of the South, produced about 400,000,000 bushels. Fourteen States, comprising New England, New York,
New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, with an acreage of 14,000,000 or 1,000,000 less than the six Southern States, produced 431,000,000 bushels.
This, taken acre for acre, practically doubles the Southern crop.

One of two conclusions seems unavoidable. Either the South is wasting a vast amount of energy in getting only some $8 or $6 an acre in return for its labor in fruitful soil, or it is wasting energy and losing results by careless and antiquated methods in cultivating a fairly fruitful soil. The South, as a section, boasts with abundant warrant of its rich fertility, its endless possibilities in agriculture. Illinois, Kansas and Iowa may have better corn lands;
but the figures which we quote,
sweeping as they do the whole northern belt, make it impossible to account for the Southern shortage in yield per acre on the score of inferior soil or adverse climatic conditions.

If the average yield per acre in the South were brought up to the standard of other sections, the South would be the richer by about $150,000,000 a year.—New York Sun.

Knocked Down Carrie Nation.

Clarksville, Tenn., July 20.—Carrie Nation, who is attending the annual fair now in progress at Guthrie,
Ky., has been up to her old tricks.
Yesterday afternoon in the grand stand on the fair grounds she walked up to a young man named John Williams, from Trenton, Ky., and slapped a cigarette from his mouth. He warned her not to repeat the act, but she did not heed the warning, again knocking the cigarette from Williams' mouth, whereupon he is said to have knocked her down. Mrs. Nation was not hurt.

If a Good Fairy

Would only bring health to me—says many a man or woman afflicted with stomach troubles, blood disorders, or liver complaint. In many cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the good fairy which brings back good health, a strong stomach, pure blood and an active liver.

Most diseases begin with some trouble of the digestive organs or of the liver. Troubles of this nature starve the body, because they prevent it from receiving its proper supply of nourishment. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery gives a man an appetite and a good digestion. Its great work is upon the stomach, large intestines and liver. These are the organs that nourish a man's body. This medicine makes them strong, vigorous and healthy. It fills the blood with the nourishment that builds new, solid and healthy flesh, muscle and nerves.

$3,000 Forfeit!

Will be cheerfully paid in lawful money of the United States, by the undersigned, proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial published below, and also of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing attesting the superior curative properties of their several medicines, and thus proving the genuineness and reliability of all the multitude of testimonials volunteered by grateful people, in their behalf.

Here is the experience of only one among many:

DEAR SIR—A year ago I was troubled with dyspepsia; thought 'a' the time that I had heart trouble and was expecting to die at almost any minute. I made up my mind to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, which I did, and received a prompt reply, advising me to take his "Golden Medical Discovery." I took six bottles, and can truthfully say that I have neither heart trouble, nor dyspepsia now. I would advise all who are suffering from either trouble to write to Dr. Pierce at once.
You have my permission to publish this letter wherever you wish. Thanking you for your kindness, I am,
Very gratefully yours,

THE PANAMA SITUATION.

Clipping sent in by Dr. E. L. Newby.

"In 1900, the project of an Isthmian canal stood where it was left by the Clayton-Bulwer treaty of 1850. For half a century it had baited with Great Britain resting upon a joint right of control and the great understanding of De Lesseps struggling against the doom of failure imposed by extravagance and corruption. On the 18th of November, 1901, the Hay-Panncote treaty with Great Britain relieved the enterprise of the right of British control and left the right exclusively to the United States. Then followed swiftly the negotiations and protocols with Nicaragua; the Isthmian Canal act of June 28, 1902; the joint agreement with the French canal company to pay them the value of the work they had done; the negotiation and ratification of the treaty with Colombia; the rejection of that treaty by Colombia in violation of our rights and the world's right to the passage of the Isthmian; the seizure by Panama of the opportunity to renew her offer; repeated effort to throw off the hateful and oppressive yoke of Colombia and resume the independence which once had been hers, and of which she had been deprived by fraud and force; the success of the revolution; our recognition of the new republic, followed by recognition from substantially all the civilized powers of the world; the treaty with Panama recognizing and confirming our right to construct the canal; the ratification of the treaty by the Senate; counter-treaty legislation by Congress; the payment of the $50,000,000 to the French company and to Panama; the appointment of the Hay Commission in accordance with the law and its organization to begin the work.

"The action of the United States at every step has been in accordance with the law of nations, consistent with the principle of justice and honor, in discharge of the trust to build the canal we long since assumed by denying the right of every other power to build it, dictated by high and unselfish purposes, for the common benefit of all mankind. That act was wise, considerate, prompt, vigorous and effective; and now the greatest of constructive nations stands ready and competent to begin the work and to accomplish the great enterprise which shall realize the dreams of past ages, bind together our Atlantic and Pacific coasts and open a new highway for that commerce of the Orient whose control has controlled the rise and fall of civilizations. Success in that enterprise greatly concerns the credit and honor of the American people and it is for them to say whether the building of the canal shall be in charge of the men who made its building possible, or of the wretches whose incredulous objections would have postponed it for another generation."

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is a common ailment for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child grows up, the trouble is too often, if the urine soaks the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the effective Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is the only medicine that will cure it. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet on "How to Diagnose and Treat Kidney Trouble." Send for it at once, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake but remember this: Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

KENTUCKIANS REUNITE.

Kentuckians in the neighborhood of Kennard, Neb., with the names of the some many of our readers are familiar, held a reunion Sunday, July 17. They met at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Vorhies. All brought baskets well filled and an enjoyable time was had. Those present were: William Lamb and wife; James Kyan and family; John Burges and family; George McCoy and family; A. T. Allen and family; Charles Cunningham and family; Mrs. Mary Davis, of Herman; Mrs. Mattie DeWitt, of Coffman; M. D. Nelson and family; Jesse Ryan and family; A. A. Wilkins and family; Henry Cushman and family; J. W. Lamb and wife; George Menzies and family; Laurence Utterback and family; George Christensen and family; Will Menzies and family; George Robert and family; Jim Peterson and wife; Taylor Madora and family; Mrs. J. E. Claycomb and family; Mrs. Mattie Pate and family; Thomas Hall, Mrs. Orpha Dows and Mrs. Mary Watkins, of McKinney; Tessie, John Bisco and family; Chris Nelson and family; L. E. Vorhies and family; Charles Lamb; Sam Hall, Miss Una Nissen.

Brutally Tortured.
A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. A doctor of Colma, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it was the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Short & Haynes, Druggists.

WHY WOMEN'S WAGES ARE LOW.

Rather an amusing reason is given by Anna B. Doughton as to why young girls' wages still remain so much lower than young men's when the same work is accomplished in quite as good a manner. "Seldom," she says, "does a girl work with any idea of permanency, and often the brighter and more capable she is the sooner does she quit. Many of her qualifications are just what he wants in a wife. Indeed, it is a fact," says the philosopher, "that many employers have found it useless to train good looking, capable girls in any special lines, for just when they are fitted for the required duties and the accompanying higher salary, off they go." Miss Doughton is in a position to discuss the subject, as she is social secretary in one of the largest publishing houses in America.—Social Service.

COUNTY'S BLACK SPOT.

Kentucky's 1904 Local Option Map is published on the fourth page of the last issue of the Baptist Argus. All of the white counties are local option counties and the black counties are whiskey counties. There are only five black counties, Todd, Meade, Jefferson, Campbell and Kenton. But these are not entirely safe for the white people in them are local option towns or precincts. All of the white counties are local option, though the black spots in some of them show limited places where whiskey can be sold. Henderson is the only black county in Breckenridge county, according to the map.

The map was compiled by Dr. G. W. Young, superintendent of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League. It shows that there are now sixty-three counties in Kentucky where the sale of liquor is prohibited. The map shows that there are now sixty-three counties in Kentucky where the sale of liquor is prohibited. THE AVERAGE OF 1904.

The Government report says the acreage of tobacco is less than that of last year by about 291,000 acres or 22.3 per cent. The average of 1904 was 55.8, against 55.1 one year ago.

OCEAN NEWSPAPER.

The completely successful result of big Marconi's attempt to keep the passengers on the Cunard liner Campania supplied with a daily news bulletin during the voyage to New York represents by no means the latest of the recent triumphs of wireless telegraphy. On no single day does there seem to have been a failure in the supply of news, communications with the American stations having actually been established, before that with the English stations ceased. It may, therefore, be taken for granted that the mid-Atlantic daily newspaper has "come to stay," and the practical value between the Old and the New World cannot be overestimated. In time, no doubt, a similar bond will be at the service of sea-farers bound even upon the longest voyages; and it will then be necessary for those who desire to obtain complete rest and change by escaping beyond the reach of newspapers to seek what they require elsewhere than in "the pathless tracks of the ocean."—London World.

FIRST DOLLAR WHEAT.

Last Wednesday the Panther Milling company, at Panther, Davies county, bought a fine and large crop of wheat from Turner Burns at a dollar a bushel. The same day the price was gladly met by the West Louisville mills, in Davies county, which received 2,000 bushels of fine wheat. This was the first wheat sold this year in Davies county and in this section of Kentucky, as far as is known, at a dollar a bushel.

No Hard Times This Year.

In any election few conditions bear as sharply upon the outcome as those pertaining to the field of industry. Prosperity in the United States today continues in full swing. There are certain surface depressions, but no reason why these minor ebbs should become serious. Every summer has its slackening of work, and every presidential election is a check on industry. Unless the situation develops rapidly, there is no probability for this summer of anything approaching hard times.—Collier's Weekly.

VALUABLE PEARL.

The most extraordinary pearl—or rather, cluster of pearls—known as "the Southern Cross" is owned by a syndicate of Australians, who value it at $500,000. So far as is known it occupies an absolutely unique position. It consists of nine pearls naturally grown together in one regular manner as in a perfect Latin cross. The pearl was discovered by a pearl fisher at Roebourne, West Australia. The first owner regarded it with so much superstition that he buried it; but it was discovered in 1874, and five years later was placed on exhibition in Australia.

WILL SPEAK TODAY.

Oyster Day, L. L. July 31.—President Roosevelt has completed the speech he will deliver on the 31st, on the occasion of his notification of the action of the Chicago convention. Summer complaint is usually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and is always kept on hand at the home of every scrub. This is not intended as a free puff for the company who do not advertise with us but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physician. No child should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport, and R. A. Shellman, Stephensport.

We can but We Won't

THE BODY BEAUTIFUL.

A brilliant writer said to me the other day that the world seems to be reverting to the old Grecian love of physical prowess and admiration for the body beautiful. Of course, we are a long way from that yet. Fancy our hollow chested, pigeon tooth women with their square hips and boner glass waists dressed as the Greeks used to dress. Fancy our average business development will ever reach as high as average among us as it did a mong the Athenians is quite another question.—Dr. Richard Cole Newton in the Medical Record.

THE OLDEST CITY.

Chicago, July 30.—Ud-Nan-Ki, the ancient Adab, perhaps the oldest city in the world, has been discovered by the University of Chicago's excavating expedition in Babylonia. This city for many years has been the object of search by Orientalists. It is mentioned in the code of Hammurabi, an early King of Babylonia, whose document was translated recently by Prof. Robert F. Harper, director of the expedition. He has just received the news here from Prof. E. J. Banks, field director of the expedition, who, since leaving this country last winter from Buzia, in Babylonia, has announced many important discoveries. The uncovering of ancient Adab is one of the most important archaeological achievements of recent years.

Dr. Banks informed Prof. Harper that he had found bricks bearing the syllables Ud-Nan-Ki at the lowest level of the ruins. He is certain that these bricks identify the city of Adab. With a force of 120 men he excavated the ruins of Adab and found the remains of four temples, built one above the other, which he named according to the kings who built them. The dates became easier, until finally the bricks identifying Ud-Nan-Ki were found. Among the other articles which Dr. Banks found are marble statues, oars and sandstone lamps and many bronze objects.
